1. All vessels from a non-Communist country coming into Constanta have to pass through two bouys located ten miles west of the harbor. From there the ships hold a straight course to two other bouys four miles away from the harbor, pass through to a point one mile from the port and drop anchor where they wait for a pilot to bring them into port. This does not apply to Soviet vessels.
2. The crews of all vessels coming from a non-Communist country are thoroughly searched. Cameras, binoculars, magazines and newspapers are removed to the wireless room which is then sealed. These articles are not returned to their owners until the ship has departed from Constanta. Crew members are not permitted to leave the ship without permission of the harbor authorities.
